

I'm running to be the next governor of Washington, and I announced my campaign with a new ad I wanted you to see first.

It has been one of the greatest honors in my life to serve my home state as Washington's Commissioner of Public Lands, and we've accomplished so much together.

Washington has become a national leader in wildfire fighting and fire preparedness. We're on the front lines of a changing climate, and we've been on the front lines of climate policy. We've secured historic investments in wildfire funding, reforestation, and maintaining our forests. And along the way, we've created countless sustainable, good-paying jobs in urban and rural communities across the state.

But, [REDACTED] we're only just getting started.

It's crucial that we start this campaign off strong, so we've set a goal to raise \$25,000 online in the first 48 hours. Will you pitch in \$5, \$10, or whatever you can afford and become a Founding Donor today?

Our reality is changing, and once in a lifetime is now once a month. On climate and across the board, we're paying the price. Wages are slow to rise, housing is through the roof, and childcare is out of reach. We need a leader who is not afraid to take risks and try bold new strategies to secure a brighter future for all of us.

Growing up, my dad taught me that epic progress happens when you do two things: You work together and you take care of people first.

I'm running for governor because with all that's at stake right now, anything shy of epic won't cut it. Together, we've got to plan, we've got to prepare, and we've got to act now.

I have bold plans to address our state's challenges and create a cleaner, prosperous future for all. But, like this campaign, it can only happen if we work together.

[REDACTED] Are you ready to stand with me? If I'm going to continue fighting for the future of Washington as the state's next governor, I need to know that you have my back.

On my grassroots team, it's going to take all of us, so please, if you're with me, will you donate just \$10 to help me win this race?
