

WASHINGTON STATE DEMOCRATS

██████████ have you heard the news? According to an inside source, former GOP WA-03 Representative Jaime Herrera Beutler plans to run for WA Public Lands Commissioner in 2024!

The Seattle Times

Local Politics ▾

Log In · Subscribe

Former U.S. Rep. Jaime Herrera Beutler plans to run for WA lands commissioner

Oct. 9, 2023 at 12:31 pm | Updated Oct. 9, 2023 at 2:10 pm

This race is heating up and we can't let Republicans gain any ground, chip in here to make sure we have what it takes to hold this critical office in 2024! >>

Herrera Beutler has an abysmal record on environmental protection - receiving a 14% lifetime score from the League of Conservation Voters. That is a pathetic, failing grade that is demonstrative of the GOP's deep contempt and disregard for our planet. Randy Sidney, she is not the person I trust to safeguard Washington's natural beauty and resources and we cannot let her gain ground in this race.

If we lose this seat, we will no longer hold every State Executive level office in Washington State - a feat we accomplished for the first time ever in 2022. We can't let the GOP claw back power and we must hold onto every inch of ground we've gained in the past six years if we want to continue building meaningful Democratic power statewide.

Please invest today so we have what it takes to ensure the GOP can never steal back this seat and pillage the natural wonders we've worked so hard to protect! >>

The cold, hard truth is that Herrera Beutler poses a massive threat to Democrats in this race. As a former member of the U.S. House, she comes in with a higher profile and better name recognition than any of our candidates. So we must start working now to get out our message and ensure we can outrun her advantage and